Brightspace Course Import Tips for Reusing Panopto Videos

The use of Panopto has grown steadily since becoming available on our campus in 2016. In the time since its introduction, we've determined which workflows work best with our unique instance of Panopto. If you are planning to reuse videos from a previous course offering, it's important that your videos are linked as recommended, and critical that when importing a previous Brightspace course offering, that you import "All Components".

Importing select components in a course with Panopto videos has not been successful (students were unable to see videos), and many more steps are required to reinstate videos for student viewing. As long as videos have been added using Insert Stuff, importing "All Components" is your best bet to ensuring all necessary permissions for viewing videos will be extended to your upcoming group of students.

Visit our supplemental guides, linked below, or contact Sondra.mantle@dal.ca for assistance.

Related Resources

1. Adding Panopto Videos http://edtechtruro.edublogs.org/2018/07/05/panopto-embed-tool/
2. Importing Brightspace Course Content https://edtechtruro.edublogs.org/2021/07/23/importing-content/