

How to Randomize Quiz Questions

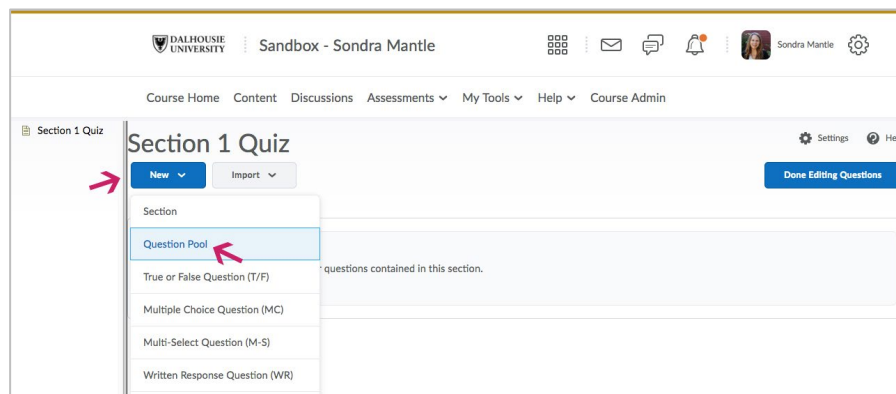

Question Pools, formerly called Random sections, are helpful in distributing a unique set of questions to individual users. Creating a question pool occurs after the questions have been created in the question library, and can be considered as step 3 in a 4-part process.

Creating Quiz Questions and Updating Quiz Settings are covered among our pre-existing help resource documents

After you have created a bank of questions in the question library, organized within a section (or multiple sections), start by creating a Quiz. You need only provide a name for the Quiz to proceed. To establish a question pool:

1. Within the Quiz (Properties tab), click on “Add/Edit Questions”
2. Select the blue “New” button, and from the list, choose “Question Pool”

3. Give the Question Pool a title (i.e. Definitions), and then select the “Browse Question Library” button.

4. Select the folder in the Question Library that contains the bank of questions you want for the pool, and then click the blue “Add” button.
5. Type in the number of questions from the pool that you want to be displayed for students. Click the blue “Save” button when done.

Note: The points value for each question must be the same. Also, click the “x” beside a question to exclude it from the pool.

6. To create additional pools, repeat the instructions outlined in steps 2-5. When finished, click the blue “Done Editing Questions” button.
7. Note the indication of how many questions from the set will be displayed to students per attempt.
